STRAWBERRY PICKER AT SARCOXIE VICTIM OF STORM

Henry Chandler of Springfield Killed
When Lightning Strikes Tent.—
Three Companions Unhurt.

Carthage, May 30.—Henry Chandler of Springfield, thirty-six years old, was killed by lightning, some barns and outbuildings in different parts of the county were burned by lightning and at least one building was demolished by wind in a brief storm which swept over Jasper county about 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Torrents of rain and some hail fell.

Chandler, with a younger brother and two nephews, was picking strawberries at Sarcoxie and they were in a camp west of town in a tent under a cherry tree. During the storm the younger brother was aroused with the impression that he had been having a nightmare. He awakened his two nephews and tried to awaken his brother, but found that the brother was dead and that the tent had been struck by lightning. Medical aid was summoned, but nothing could be done.

ENTERTAINS FOR ### VISITING GIRLS

Miss Ruby Lane was hostess to the Beta Eta Pi Club Wednesday evening at her home on North Fifth street, complimentary to Miss Edith Selsor, of Jasper, who is Miss Lane's house guest, and Miss Vivian Buckston, of Nagadoches, Tex., who will spend the summer in Monett.

Conversation, music and fancywork caused the evening to pass pleasantly. A two course lunch, was served at small tables decorated with pink and white peonies. The club members present were Misses Mildred Callaway, Anna Jacobs, Ruth Hobbs, Viola McFadden and Lucille Wagner. Other guests were Misses Mary Finch, Grace Kepner, Edith Selsor and Vivian Buckston.

A PINK LUNCHEON

FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Mrs. Cleve Bowles gave a one o'clock luncheon, Thursday, her sister, Miss Fern Kingery, being the honor guest.

This was a very dainty affair. The decorations were pink and white, pink roses being the flowers used and pink shaded candles decorating the table.

The luncheon was given to announce the approaching marriage of Miss Kingery, who will be married to Mr. E. S. McNeil on June 1.

The luncheon guests were Miss Fern Kingery, Miss Irene Haynes, of Peirce City, Mrs. C. K. Blood, Mrs. Glen Buckley, Mrs. Guy Dawson, Mrs. D. B. Kingery and Mrs. W. E. Smedley.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jenks and children and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wainwright motored to McDowell Tuesday afternoon.

Sport Shirts for men and boys at Gulick's. All colors, from 50c to $1.50.

FUNERAL OF GREAT RAILROAD MAN TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Public Not to Have Opportunity to Pay Formal Tribute to J. J. Hill, but Employes Will View Body.

St. Paul, Minn., May 30.—The funeral of James J. Hill, who died at 9:30 a. m. Monday, will be held at the Summit avenue home at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Announcement of funeral arrangements was contained in a statement issued by the family late yesterday afternoon.

Contrary to expectations, interment will not be in Calvary cemetery, but in a private mausoleum to be erected at North Oaks farm, five miles north-east of St. Paul.

The general public will not have an opportunity formally to pay tribute to the leading citizen of the Northwest, but Mr. Hill's associates and the faithful employes who made possible his great achievements will be admitted to the house to view the body before the funeral services.

The general offices of the Great Northern railroad and the First National bank and Northwest Trust Company will be closed all day Wednesday.

Mr. Hill's death followed an operation for an infection of the thigh. "The end came quietly," said an official statement. "Mr. Hill became unconscious a few hours before. There were no death agonies."

Rushed here by special train, Mrs. Samuel Hill of Washington hurried into the death chamber just in time to grasp the hand of her dying father.

Mrs. A. M. Beard, New York, is the only child who did not get here before the end came. Her special train arrived half an hour after the empire-builder died.

At the bedside were all of the other children and the widow. The widow collapsed and is in an extremely nervous condition.

The children are: James W. Hill, New York; Mrs. George T. Slade, St. Paul; Mrs. Egil Boeckman, St. Paul; Walter Hill, Hallock, Minn.; Mrs. Michael Gavin, New York; Mrs. Samuel Hill, Washington; Mrs. A. M. Beard, New York, and Miss Clara Hill and Louis Hill, who lived at home with their father.

Walter Hill arose from a sick-bed to come to the bedside of his father.

BONES OF A HUMAN

BEING ARE FOUND

Farmer Near Bailey, Finds Them
While Prospecting for Lead

Richard Walters who resides in the region of Hailey, commenced to sink a shaft for mineral sometime ago, and when down a few feet, between two big boulders, he came upon the bones of a human being, occupying a space of about 32 inches, covered over with boulders. The bones he said were evidently of a grown person of low stature.

No one can account for this lonely grave in that locality, buried as it was, down between two large boulders. No one calls to mind the sudden death or disappearance of any one in that locality. He said the body had the appearance of having been jammed down between the two stones and covered up.

He has the bones at his home. He had commenced to sink a shaft at this place and did 23 feet deep, through almost solid rock and found some lead and jack as well as some pockets of oil, that he was very anxious to have some oil experts pass their judgment on.

This mysterious grave might be the resting place of some person that had been murdered, for some unknown cause and the murderer sought to cover up his crime, by giving it a lonely burial, where it would not, as he or they thought, ever be discovered.

Thinking that it might be some prehistoric matter of importance he took the matter up with the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, D. C., and they said that it was a human being, but of what age, they were unable to say.—Cassville Democrat.

DIES SOON AFTER SIGNING PENSION ROLLS OF FRISCO

John T. Price Drops Dead at Springfield from Heart Trouble Following Retirement from Shop Work.

Springfield, May 30.—Only a few hours after he had resigned a position he had held in the painting and decorating department of the Frisco shops for years to retire to the pension list of the company, John T. Price, aged fifty-five years, dropped dead of heart failure yesterday afternoon at the G. G. Finkbner home, 603 West Mt. Vernon street, where he had resided. His body was discovered at 4:30 o'clock by Glenn Cornelius, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Finkbner, who summoned neighbors to the scene in the absence of his mother, who had gone on a shopping tour down town.

Mr. Price had always enjoyed good health, and, according to Mrs. Finkbner, when she left the home yesterday at 1:30 o'clock he was in unusually jovial spirits. He told her he intended to write a number of letters and that before he left to mail them he would lock the doors, should he leave before she returned.

At 4:30 o'clock the Finkbner had returned from the home of a playmate. He entered the home and discovered Mr. Price's body on the floor of his room. The man had put on his hat and coat and had a sealed and stamped letter in his hand. The boy thought Mr. Price had merely fainted and went to the home of a neighbor to secure aid. Neighbors determined he was dead, and Dr. J. Harve Fulbright was summoned. Dr. Fulbright pronounced the cause of death heart failure. He said Price had been dead for at least two hours.

Coroner Will C. Lohmeyer was notified of the sudden death and hurried to the Finkbner home. He deemed an inquest unnecessary.

SPRING FRET

In the springtime, gentle Annie,
When the little fishes call,
And the anglerworms are prancing,
Men don't care for work at all.
They would like to leave the city,
For some wild, fair place they know
Let their clothing fall to tatters,
Yes, and let their whiskers grow.
Oh, the joy of idly backing
Like a turtle in the sun
Feeding woodticks, 'skeeters, chiggers
Life like that is full of fun
Fishing when the flesh demands it,
Moving, hunting at sweet will—
It were ideal, gentle Annie—
Yet, however, but and still!

We don't go and live thus, Annie,
Though we'd like to very much
And we don't because we cannot
Give up woman's "gentle touch."
Woman knows man is a hunter
Woman—well, she knows big—
In the chase of life, dear Annie,
She's the greatest game that is!

THE FEAST OF WEEKS

The Jewish Pentecost or Feast of Weeks (Shabuoth) will be celebrated on the 7th of June. Its name is derived from the fact that it is celebrated seven weeks after the second day of Passover. All the biblical injunctions as to the manner in which the Feast was to be observed indicate that it was originally agricultural in character. It was in reality a season of thanksgiving for the harvests that had been reaped, beginning with the barley harvest during the Passover to the wheat harvest at the beginning of the summer. The ceremonial offerings prescribed were in keeping with the God-given gifts of the soil that had been gathered.

In post-biblical times this Feast was observed as the anniversary of the birth of Judaism with the promulgation of the divine Law at Sinai. On this "Day of the Giving of the Law," as it was called by the rabbis, the Ten Commandments constitute part of the Scripture readings in the Synagog. It is this historical aspect of the Feast that has been emphasized in the non-agricultural life, which the Jews were compelled to live for centuries.

Miss Frances Kniskern has returned to work at the Times office after a few days' illness.

WHAT BABY WOULD SAY IF HE COULD

List of "Don'ts" as Interpreted by the State Board of Health of Kansas.

If baby could talk, he would say:
"Do not kiss me on the mouth."
"Do not let the sun shine in my eyes nor the wind fill them with dust."

"Do not sneeze or cough in my face, for I may take cold, and that would be bad for me."

"Do not expose me to whooping cough and measles or other catching diseases, or I may get sick and die."

"Do not pick me up by the arms. Be careful how you handle me and lay me down."

"Do not give me candy and other things which are not good for me."

"Do not give me a dirty pacifier to suck or allow me to suck my thumb, for it will spoil the shape of my mouth."

"Do not rock me to sleep nor teach me other bad habits."

"Do not take me to the moving picture show nor keep me up nights, for it robs me of my sleep and makes me cross."

"Do not dose me with patent medicines or nasty mixtures."

"Do not give me wine, beer or whiskey, coffee nor tea, for I want to keep well."

"Do not jolt me nor trot me on your knee when I cry."

"I want right things to eat and I want my meals on time."

"I want some pure, cool water to drink between meals, for I get very thirsty."

"I want a bath every day and plenty of clean clothes."

"I want my own bed, a comfortable room with the windows open, and plenty of time for sleep, for I must have it in order to grow."

"I want to be taken out of doors every day for the fresh air."

"I want mother to love me and always be gentle with me."

"I want to be a good baby."

This list of suggestions on how to care for an infant properly was recently prepared by the state board of health of Kansas. Dr. M. P. Ravenel, professor of preventive medicine in the University of Missouri at Columbia, believes the list is a good one and that it will be a great help to Missouri mothers.

IN LEBANON 80,000 STARVED

A Cablegram Tells of Terrible Suffering in Syria

New York, May 24.—Eighty thousand persons have died of starvation in Lebanon, according to a cable message received by the Daily Mirror, a Syrian newspaper.

The message was signed by S. Sarkis of Cairo, Egypt, a magazine writer whose reliability is vouched for by the publishers of the Daily Mirror, although they do not profess to have any information as to the accuracy of the facts contained in the cablegram, which reads:

"Famine in Lebanon. Eighty thousand dead."

Syria has been cut off from communication from the rest of the world either by land or by sea for a year.

NOW THE HOGS DO THE WORK.

"Many hogs are fattened now with the aid of self feeders," says Farm and Fireside. "The corn, tankage, and oil meal is placed in a self-feeder. The hogs eat at will. In experiments conducted at the Iowa Experiment Station it was found that the self-fed hogs made greater and cheaper gains than the man-fed hogs. This shows that the hog will eat the proper amount and kinds of feed for its best growth and fattening if given the opportunity."

EXPLAINED

"Why are children so much worse than they used to be?"

"I attribute it to improved ideas in building."

"How so?"

"Shingles are scarce, and you can't spank a boy with a tin roof."—Life.

Mrs. E. E. Meador left, Wednesday morning, for a few days' visit at Tahlequah, Ok.

WORLD MOVES THE CLOCK

The Daylight Plan is Being Adopted
Rapidly

By William F. Borland

Washington, May 30.—The plan of saving daylight by setting the clocks forward one hour during the summer months went into operation in Germany, Austria-Hungary and Holland May 1 last and in England May 20.

The bill has passed the Chamber of Deputies of France. It has appealed so strongly to the business men of this country that a widespread movement has been begun to have the plan tried here.

Briefly, the plan is simply to set forward the standard time one hour on a certain designated date and set it back one hour on a certain date in September. The hour chosen to make the change is at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

The effect of the change is to make the business day begin one hour earlier in the morning and close one hour earlier in the afternoon, during the summer season; a return to normal conditions being made when the days begin to shorten after the autumn equinox.

The advantages become apparent on a little reflection. In the summer the sun rises before 5 o'clock in the morning. If business does not begin until 8:30, 9 or 9:30, the sun has been up four to five hours before the business day begins.

All classes of business men favored the change in England, except the public houses. It cuts an hour off their closing time at midnight, which is not compensated, in their line of business, by the additional hour in the morning. The loss of an hour of darkness is dead loss to them, as few persons hang around saloons in daylight—they find other ways of amusing themselves.

Some ask, if people want to arise an hour earlier in the summer time and begin work why can't they do so without a law? Uniformity is the great thing in our complex life.

Nobody can regulate his own hours of work except the farmer. Most of us must consult the customs of business and the habits of other persons. How could one man or a few men begin their day earlier? The trains would not be in, the mails would not be distributed, the banks, shops and offices would not be open, the customers would not be abroad.

Some old fogies object, and seem to think that it is flying in the face of Providence to tamper with the hands of the clock. It would surprise most of these to learn there is nothing sacred about our clocks. We do not attempt to keep sun time. Our time is arbitrary and based on an approximation of sun time for the purpose of convenience.

It is said that in a practical sense the change could be made in this country much more easily than in European countries, because foreign mails and international train service do not complicate the situation here to the same extent as they do in Europe. We have only one near neighbor in the railroad line—Canada—and that country soon may adopt the change.

It would be desirable if the change could be made by national law, rather than by state law, or by city ordinance. I am now having the legislative research bureau of the congressional library look up for me all phases of this question. It occurs to me that a regulation of interstate commerce might bring about the result, or possibly a coincident regulation of interstate carriers and of the postal service.

If the mails and the trains conformed to the new standard all over the country the local business of each community could readily adjust itself to the change.

I trust a way can be found for Congress to pass a uniform law on the subject and put the country abreast of the great commercial nations of the globe.

FOUR SUITS AGAINST FRISCO

Attorney D. H. Kemp filed four new cases in the circuit court of Green and Barry counties: Mrs. Adah Reamer sues the Frisco receivers for $7,500 for the death of her husband, that was killed by Red Ball Freight near Turner, Mo. She alleges the engineer failed to give the deceased any warning of the approach of the train as the laws require in such cases. Thos. M. Sheppard of Springfield, an employee at the new shops, was injured on April 21st, 1916 on account of the negligence of a fellow servant in running and operating a drill. Sheppard was working near the drill and on account of the fellow servant falling to properly fasten to the drill frame the piece of steel he was attempting to drill a hole through, the same worked loose and caused the drill to break and a piece hit Sheppard in the eye, destroying the sight. He asks judgment in the sum of $15,000. Both of these cases were filed in Barry county and will be tried at July term.

Mrs. Armetie Van Dyck of Springfield files suit against the Springfield Traction Co., in the sum of $20,000 for injuries she received while a passenger, and on account of the negligence of the servants in charge of the car stopping at a point where she was unable to secure a safe landing, and in starting the car before she had secured a safe footing thereby throwing her into a deep ditch and permanently injuring her. Her husband asks damages for medical attention and for loss of services on account of the injuries his wife sustained, both of these cases will be tried at September term of Green county circuit court at Springfield.

STRAWBERRY SHIPMENTS.

The Southwest Missouri Fruit Growers' Union shipped eighteen car loads of strawberries Monday. Purdy shipped 6; Monett, 6; Verona, 3, and Wheaton, 3.

The Ozark Fruit Growers' Association shipped thirty-eight cars from Monett district and twenty-two from the Neosho and Decatur districts, a total of sixty car loads.

Of the shipments in Monett district, Sarcoxie shipped 5; Billings, 1; Peirce City, 8; Butterfield, 6; Garfield, 1; Hurley, 1; Carthage, 1; Marionville, 2; Republic, 3; Wayne, 1; Logan, 5; Avoca, 1, and Monett, 3.

A better price is expected on tomorrow's shipments.

Many of the shippers are abandoning the Warfield patches, but the Aromas are holding out well, and shipping will be good another week at least.

THAT'S NOTHING

The citizens of Cassville and surrounding community have petitioned the Frisco officials to stop passenger train No. 5 at Exeter. The failure of No. 5 to stop at Exeter is a great inconvenience of the entire central part of this county from the standpoint of passenger service as well as delaying the mails.—Cassville Republican.

That's nothing. Up here in Granby, with a population of 4000 people, and two railroads, the Frisco and the Missouri Pacific, the former running four passenger trains each day and the latter one train twice each way a day, we only get mail once every 24 hours. Some times it is 36 hours. The roads have got their business down to such a fine point that they are afraid to make connections with their own train service. In order to expedite business, three of the trains that have mail for this place haul it right by this office and carry it to Monett, where it is placed in cold storage until train No. 407 hauls it out the next morning from 12 to 24 hours later and dumps it off. How long a patient people will endure this is more than we can solve. It might be wise for us to follow the tactics of the Cassvilleites, do a little petitioning and bring it up to the powers who do things.—Granby Miner.

Miss Nellie McGrath has returned home from St. Joseph and will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGrath, for some time.
